A lifetime of stories, set to music.

A native Minnesotan, Tim Fast writes the kind of folk and Americana songs that can only come from lived experience. Before becoming a working musician, he bussed tables, worked crab boats out of Dutch Harbor, fabricated sheet metal, inspected produce in California and worked as a stonemason. Those years gave him characters, places and stories that still shape his writing today.

Inspired early by the Beatles and transformed by seeing Steve Goodman in concert, Tim later studied with David Wilcox, Pat Donahue, Kathy Mattea, Johnsmith and Ellis Paul. Cliff Eberhardt invited him to tour as an opening act.

“Excellent songwriter.”

- JAMES KEELAGHAN

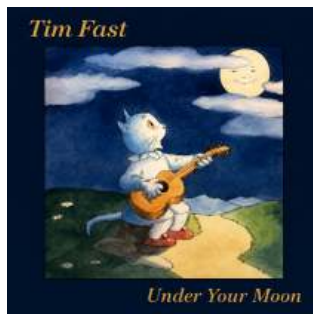

“Shone in this swap.”

- ADVENTURES IN AMERICANA, GREAT RIVER FOLK FESTIVAL

What audiences experience

One voice, one guitar and the space to listen. Tim moves naturally between humor, history, love, working life and social observation, creating a warm performance that feels personal from the first song.
